Kicking Off the 2010 Relay For Life

During the holiday season, we often try to teach our children the importance of giving back and making a difference in the community. If you are interested in extending that lesson beyond the holiday season, consider encouraging your children to get involved in the American Cancer Society's Relay For Life. Supporting the American Cancer Society's life-saving mission is crucial; doing it through the Relay For Life is just plain fun. The Wissahickon Valley Relay For Life is an inspiring local event that has long been supported by the Upper Dublin community.

To find out how your child – or your family – can participate, join us for the kick-off of Relay 2010 on Wednesday, January 6th, at 6:30 p.m. at Germantown Academy in Fort Washington. The event is open to everyone: people new to Relay as well as past participants and cancer survivors. There will be a delicious, complimentary hoagie dinner, catered by Little Italy; a terrific slide show from last year's event; and much more!

So, join us on Wednesday, January 6th, in the Braun Study Hall at Germantown Academy and become part of the Relay For Life. For more information, contact Jodi Benjamin at 215-793-4097 or bjls@comcast.net.
